2.2 Background information relevant to developing this care plan

Parent's childhood history: their experience of being parented and how this may impact on their parenting:

The information FaCS has about Arianne's childhood history and how she was parented has been provided by her parents, as Arianne has remained difficult to communicate with during this process and has not provided any direct information about her childhood. Arianne's parents reported that Arianne had difficulty fitting in at school and she was bullied. Arianne ended up with a small group of friends but her parents said school was hard for her. Arianne moved to Hong Kong with her family and started high school there. Arianne, her sister and her mother, returned to Australia where Arianne attended boarding school in Brisbane to complete high school. They said this is when things 'blew up' for Arianne. Arianne's father remained living in Hong Kong. He is a pilot and was forced to go where the work was, however the family thought the children would benefit more from an Australian education and made the decision to move them back for the remainder of high school. They said Arianne finished high school and did quite well in the end. When I interviewed Ron and Frances they spoke of having high hopes for Arianne who they say is very intelligent. Ron said it was difficult for him to have a relationship with Arianne as he was away overseas working.

History, development and experience of the child or young person and parents

FaCS made a care application to the Children's Court at Bidura 20 August 2015. Kaleb was placed with his maternal grandparents with PR to the Minister pending further orders.

FaCS identified an alleged risk and safety concern for Kaleb to be the emotional state of his mother and her mental health. FaCS received a risk of significant harm report stating that Ms Dyball had taken Kaleb to Royal Prince Alfred Hospital (RPA) where no diagnosis was considered appropriate. Ms Dyball then took Kaleb to Randwick Children's Hospital as she deemed RPA were not doing enough to help Kaleb. Her presentation at Randwick Children's Hospital prompted a psychiatric assessment and it was deemed necessary to schedule Ms Dyball under the Mental Health Act 2007. Kaleb was then assumed into care.

Ms Dyball absconded from the hospital after being scheduled but prior to be admitted. There was a subsequent incident reported at Sydney International Airport on 23 August 2015 which resulted in Ms Dyball being scheduled under the Mental Health Act at St George Public Hospital, where she remained until 27 August 2015. In subsequent information subpoenaed from Queensland hospitals there is documented evidence of mental health issues for Ms Dyball since at least 2006. Ms Dyball appears to have had multiple admissions to hospitals with treating psychiatrists noting their concerns regarding Ms Dyball's mental health and her capacity to adequately care for her children.

FaCS identified an alleged risk and safety concern for Kaleb to be his absenteeism at school. Kaleb was enrolled at Concord West Public School where from 20 May to 13 August 2015 he had been absent 24 full absences and 15 partial absences (Ms Dyball arriving late or picking Kaleb up early). The Home School Liaison Officer had a meeting with Ms Dyball in June 2015 to address concerns about Kaleb's absenteeism which resulted in Ms Dyball making excuses about why she was late dropping Kaleb off frequently and stating Kaleb just did not want to go to school a lot of the time. Since Kaleb has been placed with his maternal grandparents he has attended school every day, and he is reported to want to go on most days without too much encouragement.

FaCS identified an alleged risk and safety concern for Kaleb as the prospect of becoming homeless. Records indicate that Ms Dyball was having difficulty meeting the rental payments for their unit and was having conflict with her landlord. Ms Dyball had approached Womens & Girls Emergency Centre (WAGEC) who had begun an initial assessment in order to refer Ms Dyball and Kaleb to a refuge. Ms Dyball has since relocated back to Queensland and says she has secured a lease however FaCS have no information in relation to this other than an affidavit filed by Ms Dyball on 24 September 2015.

FaCS holds concerns that Ms Dyball may be using illicit substances, due to behaviours reported by multiple services including erratic speech, difficulty understanding her conversations or explanations described as scattered thought patterns and expression of thoughts, outbursts of anger and displays of excessive physical strength. FaCS have reviewed toxicology results from information subpoenaed from hospitals indicating positive urinalysis tests for amphetamine and methamphetamine.

Ms Dyball has been difficult to engage since Kaleb's removal and when we have spoken with her the conversations have been difficult and often do not make sense. All services involved with Ms Dyball and Kaleb note that Kaleb's behaviour escalates in correlation with his mother's emotional state. When Ms Dyball was first interviewed by FaCS caseworkers she was in the hospital with Kaleb who had been admitted for observations based on Ms Dyball's concerns for his mental health. Kaleb was sighted briefly however caseworkers had difficulty having a conversation with him. When caseworkers went to the maternal grandparents home to meet Kaleb he was observed to be a delightful young boy who was chatty and engaging. The maternal grandparents who are caring for Kaleb say they have not seen any major behavioural problems with him and school reports the same.

Nature of the relationship between child or young person and their siblings

Kaleb is living with his sister Zylah, who is 15 next month, and they have a close relationship. The family have advised that Zylah was playing the role of parent to Kaleb when his mother was not able to. The family say that Zylah has continued with this role somewhat since Kaleb was placed with his maternal grandparents and is very protective of him.

Nature of the relationships between family members and parents ability to adapt or deal with circumstances affecting family

Arianne has a strained relationship with her father Ron which he admits has never been the same since she was about 18 years of age. Arianne left home then and met a man who she married and fell pregnant with Zylah when she was 19. Ron said he was angry with her and did not attend the wedding.

Ron did support Arianne when she fell pregnant with Zylah, helping to find her and her partner a unit to live in as he was working part time for a local real estate agent. Arianne and her partner were using drugs at the time and they trashed the unit. Arianne was forced to leave the property and she separated from her partner and moved in with her parents with Zylah. They lived there for about 12 months. From the information FaCS has Arianne continues to come and go from her parents home lives and they continue to be supportive of Arianne despite her behaviour, and allow her back into their home when she has nowhere else to go. Ron was absent for a lot of Arianne's life as he was working overseas and Frances says this had a negative impact on his relationship with Arianne.

Arianne has a more stable relationship with her mother Frances who was her primary caregiver for most of her life. Frances struggles with her loyalty to her grandchildren and her daughter, but has demonstrated that she is willing to do what is necessary to protect Kaleb. Arianne arrived at their home unannounced recently and Frances was home with Kaleb and did not allow Arianne onto the property and she called the police. Frances said it was very hard to do but she understands that it was necessary. Both Ron and Frances are willing to provide ongoing care for Kaleb and Zylah and have demonstrated they are able to enforce suitable boundaries with Arianne when necessary to keep the children safe.

2.3 Child protection concerns considered fundamental in developing this care plan

Please refer to the Application and Report initiating care proceedings filed 20 August 2015.
Please refer to the Summary of Proposed plan filed 10 September 2015.

The child protection concerns are Arianne's emotional state, mental health and alleged drug use and the impact of these on her capacity to parent Kaleb. The information FaCS has from services including hospitals, school, police and our personal interactions with Arianne are that her behaviour is erratic and unpredictable. Arianne's emotional state is inconsistent and it has been reported that when she is in a heightened state of emotion in the presence of Kaleb, his behaviours escalate accordingly. From information we have from school and our own interaction with Kaleb, when he is not with his mother he does not display any behavioural issues of concern. Kaleb was missing a large amount of school prior to our intervention and Arianne had experienced conflict at Kaleb's previous school in QLD to the point where she was removed from the premises and banned from re-entering for 60 days. Arianne removed Kaleb from the school the following day and moved to NSW. When they arrived in NSW Arianne enrolled Kaleb at school, however she would often not take him or they would arrive late or she would pick him up early. Kaleb had not routine or stability. Information FaCS has from subpoenaed material is that Arianne seeks help on a regular basis, however is unable to adhere to any recommendations by health professionals.

Arianne shopped around different hospitals and services in NSW searching for someone to diagnose Kaleb with behavioural problems related to a traumatic event to Kaleb that occurred in a refuge they were staying at in QLD. Kaleb was sexually abused by a 13 year old boy. The hospitals and services who saw Kaleb did not see any of the behaviours that Arianne was describing and the only diagnosis made by any of these services was in regards to Arianne's erratic behaviour and her heightened emotional state which they said directly impacted Kaleb's emotional state and his behaviour. FaCS had concerns about Arianne taking Kaleb to an excessive number of hospitals, doctors and services and moving on when they did not make a diagnosis that she was happy with. Kaleb was missing school as a consequence of all these appointments. Arianne was having difficulty paying the rent and was having conflict with the landlord and they were at risk of becoming homeless. In addition to all of these concerns Arianne has been difficult to engage or communicate with and FaCS have little more information directly from her now then we did at the start of our involvement. Arianne has provided one affidavit to the court which has minimal information in relation to any of our concerns.

Section 3: Identified Needs and Issues

The following issues must be considered where they are applicable to this child or young person. Tick the appropriate boxes to indicate these needs and issues are addressed within the objectives and tasks in this Case Plan:

☒ Contact with birth parents and significant people (see section 7)

☒ Identity, cultural and religious awareness

☒ Health, medical and dental care

☐ Psychiatric, psychological or emotional services

☐ Special disability or intellectual needs

☐ Behaviour management

☒ Educational and training needs

☒ Social and recreational needs

☐ Support to the placement

☐ Services in support of restoration (if applicable)

☒ Victim's services (eg application to Victims Services for counselling, immediate needs, financial assistance and/or recognition payment) and other legal entitlements

All issues and needs are to be addressed in Section 10: Case Plan, including resources required and their availability. Also include in the Case Plan who is responsible for managing each need.

Section 4: Permanency Planning – Placement Considerations

Permanency planning principles indicate that children require a stable placement that offers long term security and meets their needs. Permanency planning provides for a continuity of relationships with family members and requires long term commitment by authorised carers. Family and Community Services are committed to identifying authorised carers for Kaleb that are willing to commit to caring for him and providing him with a stable placement. Family and Community Services are further committed to supporting Kaleb's relationship with his family.

4.1 Brief history of who the child or young person has lived with including previous placements

Kaleb was living with his mother in Concord, NSW prior to being placed into care. Kaleb had recently moved to NSW with his mother in May 2015. Prior to that Kaleb and his mother were living in Queensland with his maternal grandparents and sister Zylah. Zylah chose to stay with her maternal grandparents when her mother wanted to move to NSW. Kaleb has now returned to live with his maternal grandparents as authorised relative kinship carers.

4.2 What are the individual needs of this child or young person that must be met for the purposes of permanency planning?

Kaleb has no medical needs that FaCS are aware of. Kaleb is doing well at school and has resumed at the school he started in February 2015 rekindling peer relationships and he is doing well academically, requiring some further assistance with his reading which his carers are providing.

Kaleb's father is aboriginal and says he identifies as such, however the initial and only conversation FaCS had with Mr Johnson was brief and we have been unable to contact him again since to discuss further. After consultation with FaCS Aboriginal cultural workers we were advised that further conversations would be necessary with Mr Johnson to ascertain his current connection to his community and elders and to gather further information about his family history. The information about Kaleb being Aboriginal came from his mother, and due to the uncertainty about her mental health and drug use, the Aboriginal cultural workers were reluctant to identify Kaleb as aboriginal on her say so alone.

4.3 Provide details as to how the individual needs of this child or young person will be addressed?

Case planning will identify strategies and plan tasks to address Kaleb's needs and promote his wellbeing. The case planning is informed by comprehensive assessment and thorough planning with the carers, family and agencies involved. The case plan will be implemented and monitored over time and reviewed regularly. The case plan will note who is responsible for each task with action dates allocated and follow up by appropriate persons. The purpose of the case plan is to ensure Kaleb's individual needs are met.

4.4 Type of placement proposed.

Parental responsibility for Kaleb will remain with the Minister until he attains 18 years of age. It is proposed that Kaleb will remain long term with his current authorised relative kinship carers, his maternal grandparents. A copy of the authorised relative kinship carer assessment from Assessments Australia is attached recommending Kaleb's maternal grandparents Ron and Frances Dyball as the long term carers for Kaleb. Ron and Frances have expressed that they are both fit, healthy, willing and able to care for Kaleb and they would not want him to be anywhere else but with them and his sibling Zylah.

4.5 Services that FaCS is able to provide, or arrange the provision of, in order to facilitate permanency planning

Family and Community Services will continue to support Kaleb and his carers through Out of Home Care. FaCS has made an application to transfer the matter to Queensland and they have accepted day to day caseworker responsibility. Once Final Orders are made FaCS will make an application to transfer the order to Queensland.

4.6 Other services that could be requested by the Children's Court (as per section 84(1)(c))

Nil

Section 5: Permanency Planning – Restoration

5.1 Is there a realistic possibility of the child or young person being restored?

No.

FaCS has had limited contact with Arianne since Kaleb came into care and all the issues of concern are yet to be addressed by her including her mental and emotional health, illicit drug use, housing, her parenting capacity and ability to support Kaleb in attending school every day and taking Kaleb to an excessive amount of hospitals and services looking for a diagnoses that they have been unable to find. FaCS have provided Arianne with an opportunity to have contact visits with Kaleb and she has either said she has other commitments or has not replied.

5.2 What views has the child or young person expressed about restoration?

Kaleb said he likes living with his grandparents but he misses his mother.

5.3 Minimum outcomes to be achieved for restoration to occur

N/A

5.4 Length of time during which restoration is to be actively pursued

N/A

5.5 Transitional arrangements from current care to restored placement

N/A

Section 6: Permanency Planning – Other suitable placements

6.1 Will guardianship provide a safe, nurturing, stable and secure environment for this child or young person?

No

To enable the order to be transferred to Queensland Guardianship is not an option.

6.2 Will adoption provide a safe, nurturing, stable and secure environment for this child or young person?

No

Adoption has not been considered as the long term relative kinship carers are Kaleb's maternal grandparents.

6.3 If an order is sought allocating parental responsibility to someone (other than solely to the Minister) will this provide a safe nurturing, stable and secure environment for this child or young person.

No

To enable the order to be transferred to Queensland Parental Responsibility needs to be solely to the Minister.

6.4 If an order allocating parental responsibility solely to the Minister is being sought, will this provide a safe, nurturing stable and secure environment for this child or young person?

Yes

Family and Community Services have identified that the current authorised relative kinship carers, Kaleb's maternal grandparents, are suitable long term carers and are willing and able to commit to care for Kaleb in a stable placement. The carers have demonstrated that they are capable of meeting Kaleb's needs, providing him with a safe and nurturing environment promoting his wellbeing.

6.5 If this child or young person is an Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander, how have the requirements of Sections 9, 13 and 78A been addressed?

(If permanency planning for a child or young person of Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander descent is proposed by way of adoption under s78A(4), attach approval of the Ministers for Community Services and Aboriginal Affairs.)

Section 7: Contact

7.1 Details about Contact

Arrangements for contact between child or young person and his or her parents and/or siblings, relatives, friends and other persons connected with the Kaleb.

Name	Relationship	Contact details
Arianne Dyball	Mother	Contact to occur a minimum of 6 (six) times a year for a minimum of (2) hours.
Benjamin Johnson	Father	Contact to occur a minimum of 6 (six) times a year for a minimum of (2) hours.

7.2 What views has the child or young person expressed regarding proposed contact arrangements?

Kaleb would like to see his mother and says he misses her. Kaleb was talking to his mother every night on the phone however these calls stopped about a month ago. Arianne has resumed calling Kaleb about 2 weeks ago and is calling every few nights. Kaleb says he misses his mother and sometimes wishes he was with her.

7.3 If supervision of contact is proposed, how was this decision reached?

According to the information Family and Community Services has regarding Arianne she has a history of mental illness and illicit drug use and FaCS interactions with Arianne to date have been inconsistent with information from services that she is erratic and unpredictable. For these reasons supervision of contact is proposed.

7.4 Order for Contact requested from Court?

No

7.5 Do all parties agree to the contact arrangements?

Unknown. FaCS have been unable to contact Ms Dyball or Mr Johnson.

Section 8: Legal Status
